

The Minor in Anthropology

Anthropology is a multidimensional study of humankind, integrating cultural, sociological, historical, and evolutionary perspectives of human diversity within a single discipline. Crossing boundaries that have often separated the humanities and sciences, anthropology examines both the organic evolution of our biological family and the variety and unity of peoples, societies, and cultures worldwide and across millennia. The shared goal of anthropology's various subfields is to contribute to a global picture of the human experience.

The Minor in Anthropology consists of six courses, to be selected as follows:

1. An introductory course: ANTH 01 - Introduction to Anthropology -or- ANTH 03 - Introduction to Cultural Anthropology.
2. One course from each of the following three subfields: Archaeology, Biological Anthropology, and Cultural Anthropology.
3. Any two additional anthropology courses.

Minor Worksheet

Introductory Course (ANTH 01 or ANTH 03)

ANTH _____ Term _____

Archaeology Course

ANTH _____ Term _____

Biological Anthropology Course

ANTH _____ Term _____

Cultural Anthropology Course

ANTH _____ Term _____

Two additional anthropology courses

ANTH _____ Term _____

ANTH _____ Term _____

Notes:

Please carefully read the requirements listed above. If your DartWorks plan deviates from these requirements, it will be returned to you for updating.