From the President

Dear Colleagues,

SAA is looking forward to hosting the 83rd Annual Meeting in our headquarters city of Washington, DC—a vibrant and beautiful city with a great deal of history that will serve as the perfect setting to convene to share our research and reconnect with colleagues.

The meeting's location in the nation's capital could not be more opportune, given the current political climate. The Society is encouraging attendees to schedule Capitol Hill visits with senators and representatives to share professional perspectives about the value and importance of archaeology and cultural heritage preservation. To assist individuals with their visits, SAA will provide talking points; pre-visit morning briefings on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of the meeting; a one-hour recorded seminar on how to make a Hill visit as effective as possible; and SAA lapel pins to wear on the Hill. I urge you to take advantage of this valuable opportunity while in DC to do your part to speak up for our profession.

The DC meeting features a wide range of sessions, workshops, networking opportunities (including the Student Member Welcome Reception), and excursions. I hope to see you at the President's Forum, "What We Have Learned," on Wednesday evening. In this forum, archaeologists with diverse perspectives, experiences, and situations will explore what we have learned through the lens of the archaeological record that is useful and important for society today.

I look forward to seeing you in April in Washington, DC.

*Susan M. Chandler, RPA
President*

From the Annual Meeting Program Chair

Dear Colleagues,

The 83rd Annual Meeting will be held in Washington, DC. With 3,480 initial submissions received this year, the Program Committee is hard at work. A total of 232 forums, electronic forums, organized paper sessions, poster sessions, and Lighting Rounds were submitted for consideration in addition to 56 general sessions. Sessions will run from 8:00 a.m. until 10:00 p.m. on Thursday, from 8:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and from 8:00 a.m. until noon on Sunday. When planning your schedule, please don't forget that the President's Forum, "What We Have Learned," will be held from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday; the Annual Business Meeting will be held from 5:00 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. on Friday; the Ethics Bowl will take place from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. on Thursday; and the "Posters After Hours" session is scheduled for 5:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. on Thursday.

See you in Washington, DC!

*Dr. Ariane M. Burke, Program Chair
Université de Montréal*

From the Local Advisory Chair

Dear Colleagues,

Welcome back to Washington, DC! It has been 44 long years since the SAA Annual Meeting has been held in Washington. As the political hub of the United States, Washington offers archaeologists a great chance to share the value and insights of our discipline in this important setting.

We have a number of exciting tours planned for interested conference participants. These include a tour of the archaeology of George Washington's Mount Vernon; this tour focuses on the archaeology of this remarkable estate, which had occupations spanning the Archaic period through the twentieth century. Tours of the Smithsonian's National Museum of Natural History (NMNH) and National Museum of the American Indian (NMAI) collections facilities in Suitland, Maryland, are also being offered. These tours will provide an unparalleled opportunity to see amazing archaeological objects from North America and around the world. Finally, we are offering a tour focused on the repatriation practices of the Smithsonian's NMNH and NMAI—two of the world's largest museums.

Spring is a beautiful time in Washington, DC, marked by the blooming cherry blossom trees and some of our best weather of the year. I look forward to seeing you all in April!

*Torben C. Rick, Local Advisory Chair
Smithsonian Institution*

BE AN ADVOCATE FOR ARCHAEOLOGY— VISIT CAPITOL HILL DURING THE ANNUAL MEETING

Meet with your senators and representative on Capitol Hill, and tell them about the importance of archaeology! Here's how to participate:

- Around March 1, 2018, contact the DC offices of your senators and representative and ask for a meeting between April 11 and 13 (contact information can be accessed at the House and Senate main pages: <http://www.house.gov> and www.senate.gov).
- Daily briefings will be held at the Washington Marriott Wardman Park from 7:00 a.m. to 7:30 a.m. on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. - Early in 2018, we will provide talking points for you to use during your meetings.
- SAA will also explain the best strategies on how to converse with Members of Congress and their staffs. A free online seminar, "Charging the Hill," and supporting materials are publicly archived at <http://saa.org/AbouttheSociety/EducationandOutreach/tabid/128/Default.aspx>, and available to all as an educational resource.
- SAA lapel pins will be given to individuals to wear on the Hill during the Annual Meeting.

Perishable Fibers Study Tour

Sponsored by the Fiber Perishables Interest Group

1:00 p.m.–5:00 p.m.; maximum 20 persons; $63.00

Archaeological materials consisting of plant and animal fibers have unique needs once excavated and housed for future research. The Perishable Fibers study tour offers participants an opportunity to visit the Smithsonian's National Museum of the American Indian (NMAI) Cultural Resources Center, and explore selected archaeological textiles and basketry from the Andes, and the American Southwest and Southeast. These collections will be the focal point for a discussion of old and new housing methodologies and materials, as well as sampling methods for a variety of analytical techniques. This two-hour study tour will be hosted in the Curatorial Study Room and led by the NMAI's Conservation Department. Participants will leave with a digital (or hard copy) information packet with a complete list of archival storage materials used at NMAI, helpful websites with free downloads, and a flow chart describing nondestructive and destructive analytical techniques and sample sizes. One hour travel time each way is allotted.

Mount Vernon Archaeology Tour

8:30 a.m.–3:00 p.m.; maximum 50 persons; $40.00 (excluding lunch)

Located just south of Washington, DC, with a commanding view of the Potomac River, Mount Vernon is the home of George Washington's estate and mansion. Mount Vernon has a world-class archaeological record that spans the Archaic and Woodland periods through the nineteenth century. Come join Mount Vernon's archaeologists for a remarkable behind-the-scenes tour of the estate. Guests will tour Washington's mansion and more than a dozen original outbuildings. The historic core also includes the tomb of George and Martha Washington and a memorial dedicated to the enslaved people who lived and worked on the estate. The tour will also visit the current excavations at the South Grove and Slave Cemetery, and include a visit to the archaeology lab. The tour will continue with a visit inside the mansion and grounds, focusing on how this research has contributed to the public presentation of the site as well as our knowledge of eighteenth-century daily life and landscape design. Attendees will be given time to purchase lunch (not included in the tour price) at the Mount Vernon Inn Restaurant or Food Court Pavilion.

Smithsonian Repatriation Tour, National Museum of Natural History (NMNH) and the National Museum of the American Indian (NMAI)

8:30 a.m.–12:30 p.m.; maximum 30 persons; $42.00

Almost 30 years ago, repatriation became a fundamental part of American archaeological practice. While the effects of repatriation laws have been paradigm-changing and are widely recognized, the process to repatriation is filled with intricate details that are not well known. This tour is designed for SAA attendees who are looking for a greater understanding of the complexities of repatriation from the perspective of two Smithsonian museums, the National Museum of Natural History (NMNH) and the National Museum of the American Indian (NMAI). Participants will travel to the Smithsonian Institution's Museum Support Center (MSC) in Suitland, MD. Participants will view various aspects of NMNH repatriation work, including the presence of ceremonial space for tribes, traditional care for objects, cooperative curation practices, the documentation of archaeology collections, anthropology records research, and the use of the National Anthropological Archives. Objects to be viewed will not be under a current repatriation request unless permitted by the tribe. Other resources for tribal visitors such as the Recovering Voices Program and digitization projects also will be discussed. The staff of the NMAI will present similar parts of their repatriation program, and include a review of consultation practices, records management, and international repatriation. The tour will last approximately two hours. One hour travel time each way is allotted.

Friday, April 13

Smithsonian Collections Tours (please choose only one):

National Museum of Natural History (NMNH)

8:30 a.m.–12:30 p.m.; maximum 30 persons for NMNH; $26.00

National Museum of the American Indian (NMAI)

8:30 a.m.–12:30 p.m.; maximum 20 persons for NMAI; $26.00

Do you ever wonder what goes on behind the scenes at two of the world's largest museums? Here is your chance for a behind-the-scenes tour of either the collections of the National Museum of Natural History (NMNH) or the National Museum of the American Indian (NMAI), which house a combined total of nearly four million cultural objects.

The NMNH tour will showcase archaeological and ethnographic collections, including iconic objects like Spiro Man, Chaco Canyon chocolate pots, and Hawaiian feather capes. The NMAI tour will focus on archaeological and ethnographic objects, including Lovelock Cave duck decoys, ceramics from Paquimé (Casas Grandes), and stone seats from Manabí Province, Ecuador. Come learn about how staff members care for these materials, work with indigenous communities, provide access to researchers, and communicate the value of these collections to the general public.

Each of these tours will last for approximately two hours. Participants must choose to tour either the NMNH Museum Support Center or the NMAI Cultural Resources Center, both of which are located on the same campus in Suitland, MD, just outside of DC. One hour travel time each way is allotted.

Best Practices for Digital Data Management and Curation

Sponsored by the Center for Digital Antiquity

1:00 p.m.–5:00 p.m.; maximum 25 persons; $95 meeting attendees; $75 student attendees; $125 non-meeting attendees

Instructors: Francis P. McManamon and Leigh Anne Ellison

Modern archaeological investigations both produce and rely upon digital data: photographs taken in the field, GIS information, analytical and descriptive data sets, project reports, etc. These new data add to an existing, underutilized backlog of archaeological information, much of it in digital formats.

Without a well thought-out approach to data management, important information will be overlooked or lost because it is forgotten, misplaced, or damaged. Good digital data management requires attention to the means of data storage, aspects of archiving data, how data are to be preserved, and the curation of data so that it is discoverable, accessible, and usable. This workshop presents ways of managing digital data; ways to organize files economically and effectively; and tools and methods for integrating digital data management practice into academic research and CRM project procedures.

Participants are introduced to the types of digital data and information repositories that are available. Archaeologists, whether they work in CRM, for government agencies, or in academic positions, should use digital repositories to store, organize, and promote the results of their work. The workshop presents illustrative case studies from tDAR (the Digital Archaeological Record). Participants are shown how to access and use resources in repositories and how to curate and manage CRM reports, data sets, photographs, geospatial files, and other archaeologically relevant digital resources.

Participants should bring a laptop computer with wireless capability and a digital file (such as a report, dissertation, small set of images, data set, etc.) to upload to tDAR during the hands-on portion of the workshop. As part of the workshop cost, participants will receive a copy of Caring for Digital Data in Archaeology: A Guide to Good Practice.

Thursday, April 12

Navigating the Grant Process

Sponsored by the Wenner-Gren Foundation for Anthropological Research and the National Science Foundation

3:00 p.m.–5:00 p.m.; maximum 100 persons; free for meeting attendees; pre-registration required; tickets will be collected at the door; walk-ins welcome on a seat-available basis after 3:15 p.m.

Ticket holders will forfeit seats if not there by 3:15 p.m.

Instructors: Danilyn Rutherford and John Yellen

Danilyn Rutherford, the new president of the Wenner-Gren Foundation for Anthropological Research, will join forces with John Yellen, the program director for archaeology and archaeometry at the National Science Foundation, to offer a workshop designed to help archaeologists navigate the process of getting a grant. They'll describe the various funding opportunities their organizations offer, discuss the review process, and offer helpful tips on how to write a winning proposal. There will be plenty of time for questions. This event will be suitable for graduate students and seasoned scholars alike.

Saturday, April 14

Using tDAR: A Workshop for SAA Members Benefitting from the SAA–Center for Digital Antiquity Good Digital Curation Agreement

Sponsored by SAA and the Center for Digital Antiquity.

9:00 a.m.–10:30 a.m.; maximum 40 persons; no charge to SAA Members; pre-registration required; walk-ins welcome on a seat-available basis.

Instructor: Leigh Anne Ellison

This workshop is provided as part of the new SAA–Center for Digital Antiquity agreement to promote good practices in the curation of digital data. The workshop is designed for retired members, student members, members from countries with discounted rates, and members from Tribal Historic Preservation Offices, all of whom are eligible, as a benefit of SAA membership, for no-cost uploads to tDAR (up to 10 files or a total of 100 MB). The workshop will show how you can integrate good digital curation habits into current research projects to ensure easy access to data and research results long into the future. We will focus on strategies that can be implemented before research begins (including a discussion on how to budget for digital archiving), as well as ways to streamline the archival process for ongoing or completed research projects that lacked a digital archiving strategy at the outset. Finally, this workshop will discuss and illustrate the types of projects and data archived in tDAR to demonstrate how to make the most of your SAA member benefits.

Meet with your senators and representative on Capitol Hill, and tell them about the importance of archaeology! Here's how to participate:

- Around March 1, 2018, contact the DC offices of your senators and representative and ask for a meeting between April 11 and 13 (contact information can be accessed at the House and Senate main pages: <http://www.house.gov> and www.senate.gov).
- Daily briefings will be held at the Washington Marriott Wardman Park from 7:00 a.m. to 7:30 a.m. on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. SAA recommends that you attend a briefing prior to your Capitol Hill meetings. If you can't go to a briefing, the manager, Government Affairs, will also be available throughout the meeting to answer any questions (david_lindsay@saa.org).
- Early in 2018, we will provide talking points for you to use during your meetings.
- SAA will also explain the best strategies on how to converse with Members of Congress and their staffs. A free online seminar, "Charging the Hill," and supporting materials are publicly archived at <http://saa.org/AbouttheSociety/EducationandOutreach/tabid/128/Default.aspx>, and available to all as an educational resource.
- SAA lapel pins will be given to individuals to wear on the Hill during the Annual Meeting.
- For more information, contact the manager, Government Affairs (david_lindsay@saa.org).

Policymakers must hear from us. We would like to see as many archaeologists as possible on the Hill during the Annual Meeting. Thank you in advance for your time and consideration in helping us spread our message.

Society for American Archaeology (SAA) is an international organization dedicated to the research, interpretation, and protection of the archaeological heritage of the Americas. With approximately 7,000 members, the Society represents student, avocational, and professional archaeologists working in a variety of settings including government agencies, colleges and universities, museums, and the private sector.

Since its inception in 1934, SAA has endeavored to stimulate interest and research in American archaeology; advocate and aid in the conservation of archaeological resources; encourage public access to and appreciation of archaeology; oppose looting of sites and the purchase and sale of looted archaeological materials; and serve as a bond among those interested in the archaeology of the Americas.
